
OK, so you took our advice and signed up for the Remove Logo Now 2.0 trial back in February, but it's now September and you haven't seen any results? You're probably feeling frustrated at this point. Rest assured that there are many reasons why it could have taken this long for your logo to come off of your site. One possible explanation is that there are just too many logos on the site to be able to remove them all in a timely manner. It is possible that there are simply too many images to be able to remove all the logos. The Remove Logo Now 2.0 software works by searching through your site page-by-page, so if it hasn't found any logos by now, it's probably not going to find them at all. Sometimes our customers go to great lengths to hide their logo using very clever tricks. For instance, sometimes they will create a few blank lines above the logo, and then put their logo in the blank line after the graphic has scrolled down off of the screen. The Remove Logo Now 2.0 software can tell when this is happening because it will be able to identify the blank line as being the start of a new graphic. A more common problem is what I call "schema violation". This happens when you have multiple logos on one page, or if you have repeated images on your site that are all in some way related to each other. Sometimes the software won't identify one of your images as being different from all of the others. If this is happening, then rather than deleting all of your images, it's best to leave them alone until you are ready for them to disappear. This is because removing one image will cause the software to start over again on the page. If there are five logos, they will all be deleted; however, they may very well come back. You can always go back and remove them at a later date if you wish. Please note that Remove Logo Now 2.0 does not remove any multimedia files (movies, music files etc.). It is entirely up to you to delete these yourself using your favorite file-deleting software.
